Re: Administration of the North American Numbering Plan,
CC Docket No. 92-237, Phases One and Two. Ex Parte

Dear Mr. Caton:

Please include in the record of this proceeding the attached Ameritech advertisement which explains the severe disadvantages of not being able to make your intraLATA calls on your preferred long distance carrier using 1+ equal access dialing.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in dark ink, appearing to be "RLM", written over the word "Roy L. Morris".

YOU WANT SAVINGS ON LOCAL PHONE CALLS?

DO

NOTHING

Newspaper AD

NO HASSLES

Right now, some long distance companies are trying to make your local calling as complex as your long distance calling. They're offering short-term deals on only some of your local calls.

But if you just want simple, no-hassle savings, you've already got that with Ameritech without doing a thing.

NO EXTRA DIALING

You don't need to complicate every phone call by dialing extra digits. You automatically get local calling discounts by dialing direct with Ameritech. You get volume discounts plus evening and weekend discounts up to 40%. That can really add up.

NO MILEAGE RESTRICTIONS

You want to save money based on all your local calls, not just the ones over 15 miles. With Ameritech, you can save whether you're calling across the street or across town.

NO EXPIRATION DATE

You want savings you can count on today and tomorrow. You don't want to jump ship for some special promotion that won't be around long. Ameritech's savings are day in and day out with local residential calling rates that haven't gone up since 1987.

To save with AT&T,
you first have to figure out
who lives where... relative to where you are.

Okay, you know where you live.
You know where they live. But do you know if their wire center is 15 miles—or more—away
from your wire center?

And, at last.

Do you even know what a wire center is? Or how to find out, for that matter?

Do all this to save on a local call?

OOPS. Miscalculate the miles and they'll charge
you, on the average, two and a half times more than America for local calls under 15 miles. Of course, you'll have to fork out some of the volume discounts you could get by dialing direct with America...and well.

Is this all adding up in your favor?

Timing is everything.
Their "special" rates
only last so long.

In this case, only until August 31, 1994.

Better pencil that in your database.

Be sure to study their rates thoroughly.
Be confident; savings
may be smaller than they appear.

Do nothing.

You want to save on all your local calls. You don't need anything. And, you don't have to do anything, either. With Ameritech, you can save automatically. With volume discounts. Plus evening and weekend discounts of up to 40%.

No restrictions. No expiration dates. No hassles. No nothing.

You want to save? You could do things the hard way...the way AT&T suggests. Or, you could go the easy route. Continue to enjoy Ameritech's great service and savings...just by doing nothing.

YOU like to save on local calls

here's how

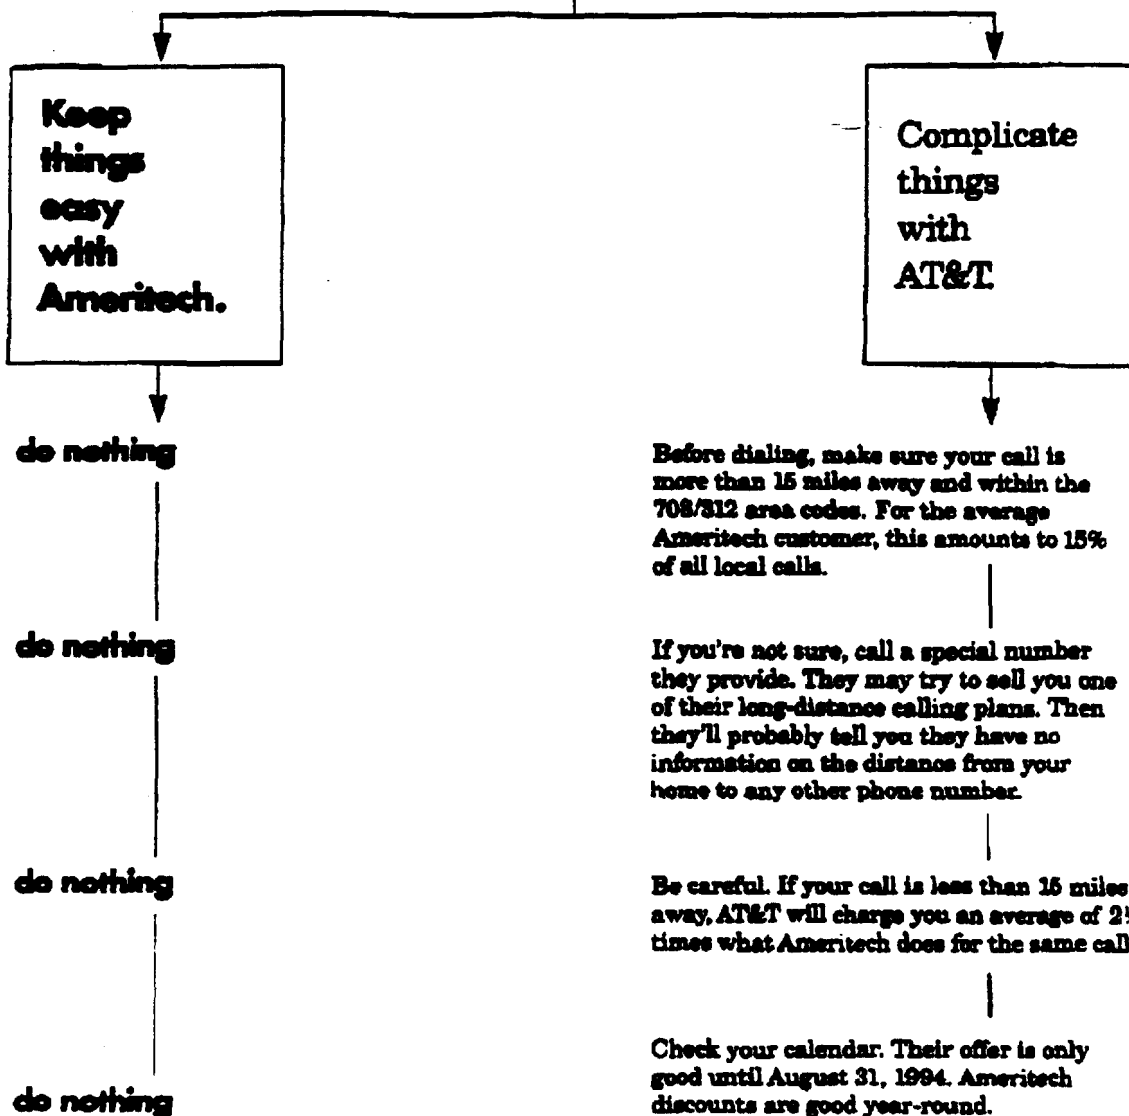

do nothing

Right now, a long-distance phone company is trying to make your local calling as complex as your long-distance calling. They're offering a short-term deal on only some of your local calls.

Why bother? You already get year-round savings on all your local phone calls with Ameritech. Automatically. Ameritech gives you volume discounts, plus evening and weekend discounts of up to 40%. There are no extra digits to dial, no mileage restrictions, no expiration date, no hassles. Unlike AT&T, Ameritech makes saving on your local calls easy.

How to save on your local calls.

If you're an average Ameritech customer and do everything AT&T asks versus using Ameritech for all your local calls, how much will you save?

Nothing.

Why? Because you'll save just as much with Ameritech's hassle-free volume, evening and weekend discounts.

And you'll save year-round.
